

Patient's fall leads to medical malpractice and Indiano & Williams recovers from hospital and doctors

In this head trauma case, Indiano & Williams PSC obtained significant compensation for a patient's widow and son after filing and vigorously prosecuting a lawsuit against the hospital, radiologist, neurologist and attending physician. The patient had suffered a subdural hematoma after a fall and was inadequately treated. The medical malpractice resulted in brain herniation and the subsequent death of patient.